CLINICAL PROGRAMS:

Newborn Medicine's Community and Academic Program Affiliates

Newborn Medicine's Community hospital affiliates care for ill and convalescing newborns in convenient, family-centered settings. Community-based Newborn Medicine faculty provide advanced therapies in the Level III NICUs and Level II Special Care Nurseries of suburban medical centers affiliated with Children's Hospital Boston. The Division of Newborn Medicine also shares close clinical and academic affiliations with several excellent Level III NICUs in Boston with high risk perinatal programs. Both our Newborn Medicine's Community and High Risk Perinatal Program Affiliates refer newborns to Children's Hospital for specialized therapies and subspecialty services. See Scheduling chart above for contact information for Level III and II Community and High Risk Perinatal Affiliates.

Infant Follow-Up Program

Our follow up program is designed for infants born very prematurely, weighing less than 1.5 kg., who are at high risk for development and motor delays as well as other problems resulting from prematurity. Our program follows children from the time of discharge until they reach 3 to 4 years of age. The multi-disciplinary Infant Follow-Up team includes pediatricians, neonatologists, pediatric psychologists, physical therapists, social workers, and if needed, pediatric neurologists.

Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU) at Children's Hospital Boston

Our tertiary/quaternary Children's Hospital NICU is staffed by a multidisciplinary team that provides state-of-the-art, comprehensive care to critically ill newborns with a wide range of complex medical and surgical conditions. Our team of specialty trained physicians, nurse practitioners, nurses, respiratory therapists and other health professionals provide supportive, family-centered care in a technologically cutting-edge environment. The Division's expertise spans from the care of extremely premature infants to that of term infants with a variety of complex congenital or acquired diseases. We provide intensive medical, surgical and nursing care, life support systems, and a complete range of diagnostic and therapeutic capabilities. After consultation with the referring physician, members of the Division of Newborn Medicine will arrange for transport in collaboration with the Children's Transport Team.

Prenatal Consultation Program

The Division of Newborn Medicine clinical staff, in collaboration with referring obstetricians, maternal-fetal medicine specialists, neonatologists based at maternity hospitals and subspecialists in the Advanced Fetal Care Center, provide counsel by phone and/or office visit to families who expect newborns with congenital conditions who will require postnatal care in our NICU.
